READ—

Annual Report on Civil Justice by the Judicial Commissioner for 1879.

No. 1501—J. 26, DATED OOTACAMUND, 25TH MAY 1880.

REVIEW BY THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER.—The most noteworthy feature in the history of the administration of Civil Justice in Mysore during 1879 has been the change introduced in the constitution and powers of tribunals. The direction of reform during late years has ever been towards the complete separation of the executive having revenue and civil powers. The introduction of Munsiffs' Courts accompanied by the withdrawal of civil powers from Amildars began this which was continued by the gradual contraction of the Deputy Commissioners' civil powers. During the year 1879 the process has been completed. Commissioners of Divisions have ceased to exercise any revenue powers and in their place as Civil Judges have been constituted the Courts of the District Judges, who have unlimited original pecuniary jurisdiction and hear appeals from the Subordinate Judges. The latter, who take the place of Judicial Assistant Commissioners, form the next Court in grade below the District Judges, for the intermediate Civil Court of the Deputy Commissioner is abolished. The jurisdiction of the Subordinate Judge is little altered from that of the Judicial Assistant Commissioner; as before Rs. 5,000 represents the limit of their original pecuniary jurisdiction, but the Munsiff's original jurisdiction having been raised from Rs. 300 to Rs. 500, that of the Subordinate Judge commences now at the latter figure. Where they have Small Cause powers too the pecuniary limit thereof is now Rs. 500 in place of Rs. 300, and these Judges now hear appeals from Munsiffs direct instead of upon reference by the Deputy Commissioner.

2. As has been said the Munsiffs' original pecuniary jurisdiction is raised, and in cases where Small Cause powers are conferred upon them the pecuniary limit is Rs. 50 in place of Rs. 20. The only other change is the reduction of the jurisdiction of the Bangalore Small Cause Court, the Judge of which is Town and Cantonment Magistrate for Bangalore as well, from Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 500.

3. These alterations were effected by Government of India Notifications in the Foreign Department Nos. 235 and 236, dated 27th August 1879, and they took effect from the 15th September.

4. These changes in the constitution of Courts render it difficult to compare the number of suits instituted in, and disposed of by the different classes of Courts, but the total number of suits instituted in 1879 was 21,475 or 34 less than in 1878, while the number for disposal, after adding 1,427 pending suits and 168 received by transfer, was 23,070 or one more than in 1878. The number disposed of was 21,802 leaving 1,268 pending at the close of the year.

5. The proportion of contested suits, 28 per cent, is the same as in the previous year. A large proportion, namely 49 per cent, were dismissed for non-appearance of either party and decreed exparte, but it is satisfactory to be informed that there were comparatively few applications for setting aside the orders or decrees passed. The Courts of Munsiffs decided 60 per cent of the total number and the single Court of Small Causes in Bangalore decided as many as 28·5 per cent. In the matter of duration of these suits it is noticed that the average for contested suits rose from 29·33 days to 31 and that, although the duration for uncontested suits declined from 21·27 to 19, the important classes of Munsiffs and Subordinate Judges' Courts both shew a higher average in these cases as indeed in those of contested suits too; and while the small improvement in the duration of uncontested suits is almost wholly due to better results in the Deputy Commissioners and Commissioners' Courts, the increase in duration of contested suits would have been much more marked had it not been for the abnormal results in 1878 in the Courts of the Commissioners. The figures for the year in the Courts of Munsiffs and Subordinate Judges, and in the Bangalore Small Causes Court, shew a tendency to delay which must be checked before it grows.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the General Department, (Judicial),—dated 25th May 1880.

6. The results of the year's work in the Appellate Courts are satisfactory. With a slightly increased number of cases for hearing a smaller balance of cases pending is displayed at once with a shorter average duration of cases disposed of.

7. A revision of the salaries of the Process-serving establishment has been effected which has resulted in a smaller net saving to Government, although the number of processes served and the fees collected on that account have risen. It is expected that the reform introduced in this matter will lead to more efficient and satisfactory work.

Secretary.

READ—

Deputy Accountant General's Note of 17th April 1880, regarding personal allowances granted to Native Officers during the late revision of establishments.

No. 808—F. 39, DATED OOTACAMUND, 5TH MAY 1880.

ORDER.—During the general reduction and revision of establishments there have been several instances of officials (not in the graded ranks) whose appointments have been abolished, or whose pay has been reduced, yet whom it has not been possible to provide with places of equal emoluments, nor, for various reasons, whom it has been expedient to retire on pension or gratuity. To several such personal allowances have been granted, making up the difference between their former and their reduced pay; but it is very undesirable that these personal allowances, which have been given without any definite limit of time, should go on for more than a strictly limited compensatory period.

2. The greater number were given on or about the 1st August last, and it will be affording ample notice to all to announce now that all such personal allowances will absolutely cease by the 1st August 1880.

3. A list giving the names of the officials who are in receipt of personal allowances is attached, and every opportunity will be taken to find appointments, for those of them who are deserving, of equal pay to that enjoyed before the revision.

4. If any official who shall not have obtained by the 1st August next a post remunerated as highly as the one he held before the revision, he must make his selection between taking the reduced pay offered him with the prospect of rising as opportunity may offer, or retiring upon the pension or gratuity which he may have earned.

READ—

Letter No. 211—46, dated 11th May 1880, from the Deputy Commissioner of Kolar, submitting for sanction a bill for Rs. 43—14—0, being charges of advertisements in the Bangalore Spectator.

No. 1252—F. 69, DATED OOTACAMUND, 18TH MAY 1880.

ORDER.—The bill received with the above is passed, although, if the Deputy Commissioner had attended to the instructions conveyed in Chief Commissioner's Circular No. 10652—213, dated 17th February 1879, there would have been no necessity to pay anything.

2. This is not the first time that Government has been put to expense by reason of a public servant overlooking the clear instructions of the above quoted order. The Chief Commissioner therefore wishes it to be understood that the next time this happens the public servant who is at fault will be left to pay the bills.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the General Department, (General),—dated 5th May 1880.

From the Surgeon to the Mysore Commission, To the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, General Department, No. 282, dated 23rd April 1880.

I have the honor to forward for the favorable consideration of the Chief Commissioner, the accompanying *letter from Dr. Henderson, containing a proposal that the portion of Lying-in-Hospital at Bangalore, which has been completed, may be utilized for the reception of patients on an economical scale.

*No. 5, dated 21st April 1880.

From J. Henderson, Esq., M. D., (Superintendent, Central Jail, Bangalore,) To the Surgeon to the Mysore Commission, No. 5, Jail Hospital, dated Bangalore, 21st April 1880.

In reference to former conversations on the subject of the new Lying-in-Hospital here, now partially erected for some time, and having regard to the obstacles to its completion at present, I have the honor to propose that the buildings, so far as they are ready, may be now utilized for the purpose intended, and a beginning made to turn them to account for the reception of patients, upon a very small and economical scale.

2. As the site of the Hospital is not far from my house or from the Pettah Civil Dispensary which I visit daily, I am willing and shall be glad to supervise its working, and to attend to any cases which may require unusual assistance.

3. The establishment of such an institution here being in its nature somewhat experimental, it may indeed be as well to commence in this way, as some test of its need and acceptability and as a guide to further steps. The single ward now complete will probably serve all requirements for sometime to come.

4. I beg therefore to propose that a small quantity of furniture and clothing be got ready, a small establishment engaged, and a 1st Class Hospital Assistant detailed for the duty of immediate charge.

5. There is such a Hospital Assistant now available in 1st Class Hospital Assistant Jiyarsami attached to the Pettah Civil Dispensary, or in Arokyam Pille at the Central Jail, with whom Jiyarsami might be changed. I should recommend Arokyam Pille, as from his long residence here, he is more likely to know and understand the wants of the place, and he is, in other respects, well qualified and suitable for the post.

6. The actual expenditure to be met would probably be as under :—

For furniture and clothing Rs. 250 (Lump sum.)

For Establishment—

		Rs.
1	Nurse	10
1	Water woman	6
1	F. Sweeper	5
1	F. Cook	6
1	Peon	7
	Total Rs.	34 monthly.
	For diet and contingencies Rs.	35 do
		Rs. 69 monthly.

7. There is, I am afraid, no provision in the budget for this, but it is probable that the amount may be spared from the general medical grant. I do not anticipate that there will be necessity for any increase for the next 8 or 9 months, and it may be for longer.

8. The pay of the Hospital Assistant is not set down nor need be, I presume, as he is not taken on specially or in excess of present establishment.

9. A small indent for medicines and instruments will also be necessary, but that does not either involve any extra cost, as they are already available, I presume, in the medical stores.

10. If you approve of this proposal, I shall be obliged if you will forward it on to the Chief Commissioner for his consideration and sanction.

Note by the Deputy Accountant General, dated 27th April 1880.

The proposed outlay, about 840 per year, would probably be met by casual savings in the Medical budget ; certainly from General Savings.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the General Department, (General),—dated 6th May 1880.

No. 798—G. 246, DATED OOTACAMUND, 5TH MAY 1880.

ORDER.—The acknowledgments of the Chief Commissioner are due to Dr. Henderson for the public spirited offer of his services in connection with the Bangalore Lying-in-Hospital which is contained in the above read letter from him.

2. The Chief Commissioner concurs in thinking that an experimental establishment such as he has proposed should, in the first instance, be entertained. The Hospital is yet unfinished and until the whole of the founder's promised endowment is received, the Chief Commissioner has no intention of completing the building; while at the same time the realization of this promise is still uncertain, Mr. Gordon cannot order a departure from the original plan and undertake the completion of the building on a more economical scale.

3. One ward is ready however and with the assistance of Dr. Henderson and the establishment proposed this ward may be utilized at once.

4. The Chief Commissioner directs, therefore, that the Government of India be addressed with a view to the establishment above detailed being sanctioned

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the General Department, (General),—dated 14th May 1880.

From the Under-Secretary to the Government of India, Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department, (Education), To the Chief Commissioner of Coorg, No. 2—140, dated Simla, the 20th April 1880.

I am directed to forward copy of a letter from the Ven'ble the Archdeacon of Calcutta, No. 775, dated the 23rd ultimo, requesting to be furnished with a return shewing the number of European and Eurasian boys engaged in Government service during the last five years and now remaining in Government employment as subordinates and clerks. I am to request that the information asked for may be compiled for all the public offices subordinate to you and furnished direct to the Ven'ble the Archdeacon.

Coorg Chief Commissioner's Office—Memo No. 193—D. 18, dated Ootacamund, 14th May 1880.

Copy forwarded to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, General Department, for information.

No. 775, dated Calcutta, the 23rd March 1880.

From—The Ven'ble J. Baly, Secretary to Committee of Enquiry on European Education.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Home, Revenue and Agricultural Dept.

The educational returns which I have received from the Local Governments and Administrations shew, with a fair approach to accuracy, what number of European and Eurasian boys are annually available in the Bengal Presidency for employment; and in order to ascertain what provision in the way of industrial and technical training may be required for the unemployed portion, it is only necessary to ascertain for how many of them employment is already found.

I have already in part endeavoured to do this by inquiries addressed to the Superintendents of Government and Railway Workshops, and to the Commandants of Native Regiments; and I have the honor to request the directions of the Government of India for making a further inquiry in other Departments of Government service which employ the country-born youths in their subordinate grades, viz., the telegraph, survey, subordinate medical departments and the public offices, as to the number of Eurasian and European boys engaged during the last five years, and now remaining in Government employment as subordinates and clerks. This information, with a calculation for the number of boys who engage annually in private service, which to some extent will be founded on data supplied by masters of European schools, will serve to point out what is the annual surplus of unemployed boys, and determine on what scale industrial provision is necessary for them.

No. 1156—G. 328, DATED OOTACAMUND, 14TH MAY 1880.

ORDERED, that the above letter, with its enclosure, be communicated to Heads of Offices who are requested to submit the return called for as soon as possible.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the General Department, (General),—dated 20th May 1880.

From the Assistant Quarter-Master General, Mysore Division, To the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, No. 924, dated Bangalore, 12th May 1880.

It is understood that the cholera reports furnished to this Office by the Deputy Commissioners of Districts used likewise to be furnished to the Deputy Surgeon General, Indian Medical Department, while that Office existed and was connected with the administration of the Province; but, since the amalgamation of the administrative appointments of the British and Indian Medical Services, when the Military Medical Department was separated from the Civil Medical Department, none of these reports have been received by the Deputy Surgeon General of this Circle.

2. As it is of importance that the Military Medical Authorities should be kept informed of the outbreak and progress of cholera, I am to ask that the Chief Commissioner may be moved to issue orders that the Deputy Surgeon General, Mysore Circle, Bangalore, may be furnished with cholera reports by District Officers as the Deputy Surgeon General, Indian Medical Department, used to be.

No. 1130—G. 319, DATED OOTACAMUND, 14TH MAY 1880.

ORDER.—The Deputy Commissioners of Districts are requested to send the copy of cholera reports which used to be forwarded to the Deputy Surgeon General, Indian Medical Department, to the Deputy Surgeon General, Mysore Circle, at Bangalore.

Letter No. 2, dated 13th May 1880, from the Public Prosecutor, Nagar Division, requesting to be supplied with stationery for his use.

No. 1351—G. 363, DATED OOTACAMUND, 20TH MAY 1880.

ORDER.—The District Judge of Nundydroog provided for stationery for the Public Prosecutor of his Division in his indent for 1880—81, and the same was accordingly supplied. The District Judges of Ashtagram and Nagar, who did not make the same provision in their indents, are requested to supply the Public Prosecutors of their Divisions with the stationery they require, from their own stores during the present official year, and provide for stationery for the Public Prosecutors in future indents.

Letter No. 7, dated 5th May 1880, from the Superintendent, Mysore Government Museum.

No. 1348—G. 362, DATED OOTACAMUND, 22ND MAY 1880.

ORDER.—For the first time the number of visitors to the Museum during the year has decreased, but this is probably owing to the fact that the people of the town of Bangalore have less occasion now to visit an institution with which they have already rendered themselves familiar. It is evident, however, from the greatest number of visitors in any one day having risen during the year as high as 12,027 on the occasion of the Dasara festival, when many villagers visit Bangalore, that the Museum is increasing in popularity with the people of the interior.

2. Colonel R. H. Sankey, C. B., R. E., Major-General Pearse and Mr. F. E. Harman are reported as having been the chief contributors to the Museum during the year, and to them the Chief Commissioner tenders his acknowledgments.

3. In the Chief Commissioner's Review on the Report for 1878-79, it was remarked that information should be afforded indicating wherein the collection of objects of interest in the Museum can be most usefully supplemented, and this, Mr. Gordon directs, should now be done.

Resolution No. 300, dated 21st August 1878, in the Home Department, relative to the registration of births, deaths and marriages of Christians throughout India.

No. 1361—G. 364, DATED OOTACAMUND, 22ND MAY 1880.

ORDER.—In the above read Resolution the question of legislating for compulsory registration of European births and deaths is discussed at considerable length and certain information is asked for which is required before such legislation may be undertaken.

2. Registration of Christian marriages has been provided for by Act V of 1865 and Act XV of 1872, but registers of marriages may have been kept before the passing of such Acts and not under any Act at all: in order to decide whether in the event of legislation being undertaken, the entries in such registers should be made legal evidence in a court of law, the Government require a description and history of every such register existing.

3. In the same way the special registration of births and deaths among Europeans and Native Christians though not enjoined by any law are believed to be in force in some communities, and, for the same reasons, Government desire to have a description and history of every such register that may be in existence.

4. Deputy Commissioners of Districts are requested to obtain the above information from the several Missionary and other Christian Societies within their Districts as early as possible: the proposed legislation being contemplated entirely in the interests of those communities, the information will no doubt be readily and willingly furnished, and it is an object of importance that it should be collected as soon as possible.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue),—dated 7th May 1880.

From the Survey and Settlement Commissioner, Mysore, To the Revenue Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, No. 350, dated Poona, 14th April 1880.

I have the honor to forward for the consideration of the Chief Commissioner the appended *letter from the Superintendent, Revenue Survey, and accompaniments relating to the revision of assessment of the Chikmagalur Taluk of the Kadur District.

*No. 215 of 22nd March 1880.

2 I do not propose to follow the Superintendent through the details of his report, but confine myself to the main heads and to the points where a difference of opinion has occurred between the Superintendent and the Deputy Commissioner.

3. This taluk is undoubtedly one of the finest in Mysore so far as the central portion goes and excluding the northern portion in the Sakrepatna direction and the part near and to the west of Vastara. The former is rather a wild country among and under the hills and the latter is a purely Malnad jungly country.

4. Para 16 of the Superintendent's letter shews the past revenue history of this taluk. We find an amount of collections steadily rising with very little check during the past twenty-five years, the collections commence with Rs. 1,08,991 in 1854—55 and attain to Rs. 1,51,871 in 1878—79. The maintenance of this steady increase has been beyond doubt due to great opening up of the country by roads which has to so great an extent been effected in comparatively recent times. The present assessment is most unequal in parts being exceedingly high and in other parts low to a degree incompatible with the existence of any kind of system.

5. A difference of opinion arose between the Superintendent and the Deputy Commissioner. The Superintendent placed the Sakrepatna Magani in his 3rd group with a maximum rice land rate of Rs. 6—0—0 and a maximum dry crop rate of Rs. 1—12—0. The Deputy Commissioner desires to raise this and to place this magani in the 2nd group with a maximum rice rate of Rs. 7—4—0 and a maximum dry rate of Rs. 2—4—0. The old rates of assessment were exceptionally low and in fact fraudulent in the best rice lands in this magani and the Superintendent's proposed rate effected a very large increase. The Deputy Commissioner considers the increase is not sufficient and advocates a still farther increase. In his forwarding letter the Superintendent agrees to the proposal of the Deputy Commissioner.

6. It so happens that I am myself very well acquainted with this taluk and with the Sakrepatna Magani and its peculiarities. It is most notoriously a very unhealthy country, a point to which it is impossible not to give some consideration and more than the Deputy Commissioner is inclined to accord to it. I do not at all say that the Sakrepatna Magani would be over-assessed if it were placed on the rates of the 2nd group, but it would be assessed higher in proportion than the other parts of the taluk, and if this magani was raised to the rates of the 2nd group, it would be necessary to adopt higher rates for the villages now in the 2nd group and for those of the first group, in fact to raise the standard of assessment through the taluk generally.

7. In my opinion it may be well to somewhat raise the maximum rice land assessment of the Sakrepatna Magani above that of the 3rd group, and I would propose to raise it from Rs. 6—0—0 to Rs. 6—8—0. But I would not raise the maximum dry crop rate on any account. The above increase to the rice rate would cause an increase of revenue of about Rs. 800.

8. The estimated revenue result of the settlement will thus, with the addition of Rs. 800 as above proposed, be a survey assessment on land returned as occupied in 1878—79 of Rs. 1,88,300, but before comparing this with the former realizations some deductions must be made.

9. First, it is estimated that about Rs. 10,000 will be required for the remuneration of the village officers who lose all direct grain levies from the ryots after the introduction of the settlement; the ryots of course will benefit greatly by the cessation of liability to these levies.

10. Next, for the Irrigation cess the sum of Rs. 6,614 will require to be deducted, so far as the returns to the State revenue are concerned.

11. Finally, as usual, some deduction must be made from the estimate of realizations on account of land shewn at the time of survey as occupied and recorded as such which in reality had never been occupied and was only shewn as such to secure the refusal of it at the settlement. This excess land shewn as occupied may very probably result in some resignations at the settlement for which some allowance must be made, though how much it is impossible to say beforehand with any kind of precision. The Superintendent estimates that this area may amount to land bearing an assessment of about Rs. 9,000, and therefore that the net increase after all the deductions and allowing for the Rupees 800 increase from raising the assessment of the Sakre patna Magani may amount to about Rupees 11,000 or in round numbers: while Rs. 1,51,871 were realized in 1878—79 we may look for the net realization of about Rs. 1,63,000 in the first year after the introduction of the settlement.

12. We may farther in the future look for a considerable development of the revenue from the absorption of the unoccupied assessed waste area into occupation and payment of assessment. In para 30 it is shewn that the assessed waste land amounts to acres 27,381 bearing survey assessment Rs. 32,566. The garden waste area is insignificant in extent and value, acres 85 assessed at Rs. 422, but the rice waste amounts to acres 4,744 bearing assessment Rupees 15,199, and the dry crop to acres 22,552 bearing assessment Rs. 16,945. We have too assumed in the previous para that about Rs. 9,000 of land assumed to be occupied may be resigned at the settlement. There will thus be a total waste area bearing assessment of in round numbers Rs. 40,000, some of which will certainly be taken up soon after the settlement and every rupee's worth of land so taken up will go to increase the net revenue above the estimate above made of Rs. 1,63,000.

13. There will too be a considerable increase under cesses available for local improvement. The present half-anna cess produces Rs. 5,112, the one anna cess under the settlement is estimated to produce Rs. 13,004, an increase of Rs. 7,892 which should enable, if judiciously expended, much to be done in the way of opening up the country.

14. The settlement proposed appears to me to offer as good a probability of prospective financial success as any taluk yet settled in Mysore.

15. The Deputy Commissioner in his letter No. 3 of the 1st instant among the correspondence appended enters into many points of detail in connection with the rates of assessment and the mode of arriving at them especially in para 11. I have read these remarks with all care, I find that they are generally met by the Superintendent's remarks. It is evident that the Deputy Commissioner had an imperfect comprehension of what he was writing about, so much so that I find it next to impossible to discover what he means. He says that the minimum rates would enable any one to judge better of the suitability of the rates than the maximum. The maximum is a clear and defined standard, land in all respects of the best and most faultless quality bears the maximum rate, in rice land the land and water-supply combined must be faultless to incur the maximum rate, the minimum rate properly would be the rate at the very bottom of the assessment scale, or as I understand the Deputy Commissioner's meaning, it would be the lowest rate imposed in any particular case which unless the Deputy Commissioner happened to know the particular field would convey no idea whatever to his mind of the standard of assessment adopted.

16. In para 5 of Chief Commissioner's order No. 6187—98—R. 1089, dated 19th February last, a reference was made to a previous request for a statement showing the extent of survey land under each rate of assessment. Such a statement it was clearly impossible to prepare and present with a settlement report, first because great labor would be required and next because the detailed assessments of individual fields are not worked out by the time the settlement report is drawn up. I had imagined that it might be possible to frame an approximate statement shewing the number of survey fields in each division of assessment high, medium and low, but this too I found would be impracticable at the time the settlement report is drawn up and troublesome and expensive at any other time. Such a statement too the Chief Commissioner may rest assured would be of no value whatever to him in aiding in the formation of an opinion regarding the assessment ; had it been otherwise, such a statement would have been at any trouble prepared for our own use in the survey. A very fair indication of the range of the assessment may be obtained from a consideration of the average rate which is always given and it may be taken as certain that between a rate 20 per cent above the average and one 20 per cent below it at least three-fourths of the lands of the taluk will be found to be assessed.

17. I now beg to recommend the above proposals for the sanction of the Chief Commissioner and shall be obliged by these papers receiving as early attention as may be convenient and by the orders of the Chief Commissioner being communicated direct to the Superintendent.

From the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey and Assessment, To the Survey and Settlement Commissioner of Mysore, No. 215, dated Tarikere, 22nd March 1880.

I have the honor to submit the following proposals for the revision of the assessment of the Chikmagalur Taluk of the Kadur District of the Nagar Division.

2. Appended is a report upon the taluk by Mr. Butcher, who was in charge of classing operations, together with a sketch map in illustration of the present report.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue),—dated 7th May 1880.

4. The numerous changes which have from time to time been made in the limits of this taluk are described in para 3 of Mr. Butcher's report, and in the 2nd and 3rd paras of the Deputy Commissioner's letter attached. The result has been a somewhat overgrown and misshapen taluk comprising within its limits a greater variety of climate, soils and crops than perhaps any other similar sub-division in the Province. The Taluk of Chikmagalur lies immediately to the east and south of the water-shed of the Bababudan hills, from which originates a river system of considerable magnitude, conferring its fullest benefits on the tract under report ere flowing north-east and south-east. In the wild and somewhat undefined ranges in which the Bababudan hills lose their individuality to the south, is the cradle of the Yegachi river which eventually joins the Hemavati, and on the eastern slopes of the Bababudans themselves are the sources of the two streams, the Gaurihalla and the Avati, which after filling the Ayankere and Madag tanks respectively, join and form the Vedvati which flows on through the Chitaldroog District.

5. These streams, as they merge from the hills, have been dammed with great skill and the perennial water-supply thus obtained has converted the centre of the taluk and a considerable stretch of country to the north, under the Ayankere and Madag tanks, into the most fertile irrigated lands I have seen in any part of the Province. This description applies more strictly to the central portion than to the north of the taluk ; but in both cases the soils are of a very high order and the crops of proportionate value and variety, comprising Bengal-gram, onions, garlic, coriander, monthya, wheat, various kinds of vegetables and occasionally, in the central stretch, the poppy. Left high and dry, so to speak, untouched by either of the above systems of irrigation is a considerable tract of country to the north-east adjoining the Banavar Taluk which is essentially dry crop possessing scarcely any tanks of its own but with a higher order of dry crop soils than in the rest of the taluk where all the good soils are under irrigation, the higher lying and poorer soils alone being cultivated with dry crops. The crops grown in the dry soils are javari and Bengal-gram in the darker soils, and tobacco, ragi and beans and castor-oil in the red and poorer soils. The best gardens are situated in the Malnad portion of the taluk chiefly in the Advalli Magani. In the plain portion of the taluk the gardens are of no great importance and have gone a good deal to decay. The best are in the Sakrepatna and Kalsapur Maganis. The southern spurs of the Bababudans, in which the streams eventually forming the Yegachi river take their rise, may be described as the Malnad portion of the taluk comprising the maganis of Anur, Kadagalnad, Khandya, Tandarnad, Advalli and part of Vastara. It is a purely rice-growing country with occasional betel-nut gardens in the hollows and rarely cardamoms. The eastern lower slopes of the Bababudans can scarcely be called Malnad, for although well wooded and much broken up with minor hill ranges, there is a much more frequent occurrence of dry crop cultivation than in the true Malnad, while the climate is in every respect more moderate.

6. Besides the productions of the ordinary cultivated lands coffee is extensively grown, but, as will be observed from the area measured as coffee estates and gardens given in the margin, is confined chiefly to the Malnad portion of the taluk and to the eastern slopes of the Bababudans. That it should grow at all or be worth cultivating in the plain maganis is strange, but the general elevation of the taluk is very high, the town of Chikmagalur itself being 3,481 feet above the sea, while the highest peak of the Bababudans, Mulangeri, is no less than 6,317 feet above sea-level. The whole of the area claimed as coffee, estate is not of course actually under coffee, but a very large proportion of it may be assumed to be planted up. What that proportion is will form a part of the enquiry during the settlement of the coffee question hereafter.

7. As might be expected from the size, shape and general position of the taluk, the climate varies in a remarkable degree in different parts. According to the rain-fall gauged by the Amildar the average in the last 7 years has been 32·28 inches. In the Gazetteer of Mysore, page 406, Volume II, the average rain-fall at Chikmagalur is given at 36 inches. It is scarcely necessary to say that this fall is very unequally distributed. In the Malnad division it is so heavy as to admit only of the usual Malnad productions of rice, betel-nut and cardamoms. In the central portion of the taluk, although at no great distance, the transition in climate is remarkably sudden, the fierce down-pour of the Malnad giving place to a comparatively moderate rain-fall quite consistent with, indeed very favorable to, the remunerative cultivation of dry crops. In the essentially dry crop tract described in the last para, of which the chief maganis are Lakya, Hulikere and parts of Kenkere, Sindgere and Kalsapur, the rain fall is still less and there may be said to be a slight element of precariousness in the climate. On the whole, however, the climate is remarkably good, although there are some unhealthy localities amongst which Sakrepatna, according to popular belief, occupies a prominent position. There must be some foundation for this belief, for the village of Sakrepatna is avoided in a great measure as a permanent residence, many of the cultivators of its lands living in the adjoining villages of the Hulikere Magani.

8. Great improvements have been made during recent years in communications generally. The taluk is now efficiently supplied with roads which radiate from Chikmagalur or Basvanhalli, as it is usually called, in every direction ; to Tarikere by Lingenhalli and Santaveri to Sakrepatna where the road branches to Kadur and Banavar ; to Javgallu and thence to Banavar, and to Belur in the south-east. A road through Vastara leads to the Bhund-ghat and, finally, a new road has been opened up through the western or Malnad division leading to Balehonnur and Harihapur. The work of establishing communication between Chikmagalur and the Jagar valley, in the Lakvalli Taluk, for wheeled traffic has been commenced, and although but little progress has as yet been made, there is little doubt I believe of the work being completed in the course of a very few years. There is considerable traffic, but only by means of pack bullocks and coolies, between the Jagar valley and Chikmagalur. On the whole the taluk under report is as well supplied with roads as almost any in Mysore, very few villages being more than 5 miles distant from some made-road or other. The exception is in the case of some villages of the Advalli Magani to the extreme north-west.

9. Chikmagalur is the general centre of trade, not only for the taluk, but for the surrounding districts generally. It is a place which is fast rising to importance and is already the general coffee mart for a large section of the coffee country to the west. Large bazars are held at Chikmagalur itself and there is a considerable market at Hanniki, in the south, whilst minor local markets are situated conveniently for all the villages throughout the taluk, excepting in the case of Malnad division where the villagers are somewhat badly off in this respect, there being only one small weekly market near Aldur. Beyond the immediate confines of the taluk, Javgallu in the Banavar Taluk is much frequented by the eastern villages. Chikmagalur from its position must be the road of much traffic between the Malnad and the plain country between which a mutual interchange of productions takes place annually. The Bababudans form an effectual barrier to the export north-ward of a great deal of produce which is thus forced to adopt the Chikmagalur route. The general traffic which is greatly enhanced by the effects of the coffee trade must, in the central villages especially, greatly facilitate the disposal of produce at good prices. There are no data on which to calculate the exports and imports which are enumerated at paras 14 and 15 of Mr. Butcher's report.

10. The following statement exhibits the statistical information collected during classification :—

Villages.	Houses.	Population.	Square Miles.	Cattle.	Carts.	Ploughs.	Market Towns.	Remarks.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
*552	16,565	76,224	528	90,261	749	12,998	8	*Including 3 coffee estates separately measured.

The density of population for the Government villages and kavals is therefore 133 to the square mile, but the area of the kavals and separately measured coffee estates being deducted it is close on 145 to the square mile. The population is very unevenly distributed, being dense in the centre and north-east and sparse in the Malnad division. Taking the culturable area alone which amounts in round numbers to 164 square miles, we get a population of 465 to the square mile. Taking the occupied area there is more than one acre for each head of the population, there being 77,656 acres against a resident population of 76,224 souls, and of this area no less than 31,461 acres represent wet cultivation of a very high order. The number of carts appears small but is explained by the traffic being carried on by regular traders who visit the taluk in large numbers, employing their own carts or carts hired elsewhere.

11. Regarding the general condition of the people all officers of experience who have written on the subject are pretty unanimous. Mr. Stokes in his report on the Nagar Division in 1838 describes Chikmagalur as follows : "Chikmagalur lies under the southern face of the Chandra-"drona hills, and from the command of water obtained by damming up the streams which flow "from them and the excellence of the soil, it is the richest taluk for its extent in Nagar. It is "said in consequence to have been called formerly "Hunjavarige Shime" which implies the "country flowing with gold." In describing Vastara which now belongs to the taluk under report Mr. Stokes writes : "In Vastara the land-holders are Halvokkal or Namdari Gaudas "with a few Shivabhaktars. They are well off and are very tenacious of their rights as kulagars or "hereditary proprietors of their villages." Great changes have no doubt taken place since Mr. Stokes wrote and these land-holders have had to relinquish some of the rights of which they were so tenacious, the tenure being now everywhere ryotwari, but on the whole there is every sign of the taluk having increased in prosperity. The numerous changes made from time to time in the boundaries of the taluk render it impossible to trace it back to distant years for the purposes of comparison, but taking the whole District the population has increased from 145,394 in 1838 to 236,178 in 1853—54, while by the census of 1871 the figures were 532,381. Immense progress has been made in road-making and many years of advantageous prices combined with good soils and a certain climate have raised Chikmagalur to what in my opinion is one of the most thriving taluks in the Province.

12. Chikmagalur is shewn in the map appended to the report on the famine in Mysore by Mr. C. H. Elliott, C. S. I., as more than slightly affected by the famine, but no distinction is made between different parts of the taluk. The chief suffering, so far as my experience goes and so far as I can ascertain, was in the dry tract to the north and north-east, much mitigated in the central portion of the taluk, and very slight, if it all existing, in the Malnad portion. The Magani of Lakya was selected as a test magani in the partial census taken in January 1878, and, on the difference ascertained by test in that one magani, the population of the whole taluk was estimated to have decreased from 110,105 in 1851 to 83,240 in 1878. The classing returns compiled during and since the famine shew in the Government villages alone, exclusive of 29 whole inam villages in the moving population, no less than 76,224 souls, so that I am inclined to think that the taluk did not suffer to the extent estimated by the Famine Commissioner. The classing census invariably shews results a good deal below the truth the moving population not being allowed for, it being in point of fact more a record of the agricultural population than any thing else.

13. Mr. Butcher after an extended and minute acquaintance with the taluk under report records his opinion in para 24 of his report that it is one of finest portions of the Province. On the other hand however it must be borne in mind that there are certain localities which must be considered exceptional. In the dry tract to the north-east the climate is perhaps slightly precarious and round about Sakrepatna there is unhealthiness. Again in the more remote inaccessible and hilly portions of the Malnad adjoining Lakvalli there are the draw backs attending a scant population, difficulty of communication and the prevalence of fever to some extent.

14. There is not much information to be gleaned regarding the old assessment, by whom it was framed and on what principles it was based? Considering the heterogeneous composition of the taluk as it now stands, I have no doubt there was great diversity in the original system of revenue and tenures of land in different parts, to trace which now, even were it possible, would serve no useful purpose. The tenure is now ryotwari throughout. In the Malnad division o the taluk the hakkal or dry crop lands are given in, as an accompaniment to the rice lands, free of assessment. In the remaining parts of the taluk we have the ordinary ryotwari tenure common to all the plain taluks. There never at any time was any systematic survey, even of the cultivated lands. The complaints of the ryots led to an actual measurement of the garden lands in Sakrepatna, Rajansiriyur and Kalsapur, as explained by the Deputy Commissioner in para 19 of his letter, but the results were not very satisfactory as may be judged from the fact that in the Sakrepatna Magani, for instance, the area of the occupied gardens appears in the old accounts as 73 acres, while the area now actually ascertained by the present survey is no less than 272 acres. The Deputy Commissioner, taking for his basis the old accounts and the local mode of converting kandis into acres, gives the occupied area of the taluk as below. For the sake of comparison I have placed the actual area by survey in juxtaposition :—

	Old Accounts.		By Actual Survey.
	Old Measure.	Converted into Acres by Deputy Commissioner.
1	2	3	4
Garden	Not given.	2,762	1,386
Rice		30,577	31,461
Dry Crop		29,754	44,809
Total.....		63,093	77,656

I distrust the mode of conversion into acres, for I find that in the single Magani of Advalli where nearly all the really valuable gardens are situated, the area of the occupied gardens is put down in the old accounts at 1,039 kandis or 2,146 acres, while by Survey there are only 259 acres. There is evidently some great error. In the same way I distrust the area shewn under the head of wet land of rice, although, by a coincidence, it is but little different from that now recorded by the Survey. The accounts of the taluk are, in short, not sufficiently reliable to afford any material for comparison between the old and the newly ascertained area. The nominal rates of assessment shewn in Statements A B and C appended to the Deputy Commissioner's letter are, for the same reasons, quite useless as a guide to the incidence of the old assessment, many of the rates quoted being beyond all reason and, as a matter of fact, having no actual existence.

15. The old assessment does not appear to have been fixed with much reference to the capability of the soil and its incidence has consequently been very unequal. One very glaring instance is to be found in the case of the lands irrigated from the Ayankere tank, the rate actually paid, as ascertained by placing the old assessment in juxtaposition with the newly ascertained Survey area, being only a little over one rupee per acre. Mr. Butcher in his 17th para very naturally characterizes such rates as preposterously low. So much for the inadequacy or rather the corruption of the old assessment. To judge of its unequal incidence we have only to compare the actual rates paid on the lands above mentioned with rates actually paid on other parts of the taluk, in the Narayanpur Magani, for instance, where no less than Rs. 5-14-4 per acre are actually paid. In both instances it must be borne in mind the supply of water is perennial and in both instances the soil is of a very high order. Making every allowance for the different circumstances of the two localities the difference in the assessment is quite unjustifiable. I could give very many similar instances, but will content myself with bringing to notice that instances have been brought to light by the survey of dry crop lands of a very poor order actually paying as much as 3 rupees an acre, much more in fact than is paid by a good deal of the superior rice lands. Some of the old assessments are it is true very high, but are nullified by others equally low. In short, the incidence of the old assessment is very unequal and a revision on a systematic basis must have the effect of increasing and decreasing the assessment in a similarly unequal degree.

16. The subjoined statement exhibits the collections actually realized on the occupied lands for the last 25 years. As already explained the old bijvari is not to be relied upon, even if forthcoming, and consequently I have entirely excluded it from the statement :—

17. The figures shewn in the above statement have been compiled from the independent statements of the annual revenue settlement in each village. The general collections for the taluk furnished to me by the Revenue Authorities in the first instance were of no use whatever for the purposes of this report as they were not for the same villages, nor yet for like items, in each year. Consequently it became necessary to compile the necessary information from the independent statements, village by village. This I had done in my own Office on the basis of the village accounts furnished by the Amildar and the totals have been vouched for as correct by the Amildar as well as the Deputy Commissioner. About the year 1869 all the village accounts on which the taluk general accounts had been based up to that date are stated by the Amildar to have been destroyed by order, and consequently the independent village statements now furnished are from the Shanbhogs' records and must be accepted as the best we can get. The constant transfer and addition of villages to the taluk have been the chief cause of the difficulty now experienced in obtaining information regarding its past revenue history.

18. The remissions shewn in column 3 are, excepting in the case of the year 1876-77, of a permanent character being in no way due to poverty, failure of crops or similar cause. In 1876-77 however the exceptional circumstances of the taluk, as a result of the famine, led to the remission of a sum of Rs. 9,259 over and above the permanent remissions, which however was confined to the north-eastern and eastern maganis. The permanent remissions consist of "Shera Baki" or assessment permanently written off not to be collected, "Alive Baki" or assessment foregone during the currency of "Shraya" or gradually increasing assessment, and of assessment recorded against Government waste.

19. The prices current in the taluk during the same years for which the collections have been shewn are entered in the following statement. Ragi has been selected as the staple crop for the dry crop lands and rice and betel-nut for the wet and garden lands respectively.

20. With the exception of the last three years the collections, viewed with the prices current, present no abnormal feature as they have undergone very much the same fluctuations as did the revenue of the Province generally, in the same years. The high prices consequent on the American war sent up the realizations to the highest pitch ever known in 1866-67 and the following year, since which time, although there has been a very general fall in prices, the collections have remained on the whole remarkably steady until 1876-77, when the exceptional circumstances of the famine led to the remission, although there was no contraction of the Government demand, of a sum of Rs. 9,259 and the realizations for that year stood at a sum of only Rs. 1,35,690. Of the justice of these remissions, I do not wish to express any opinion but I cannot help noting that their concession presents somewhat of an anomaly to the extraordinary high collections in the next two years. The remissions in 1876-77 were confined to the north-eastern maganis of the taluk.

21. The great spread of cultivation in 1877-78 and 1878-79 was due to causes of a purely economic character comprised in high famine prices combined with certainty of climate and other advantages which I have already endeavoured to describe.

22. In ordinary years the revenue appears to have been realized with ease. The fluctuations between 1866-67 and 1876-77 have not been so much in the direction of decrease as might have been expected from the fall in prices during the same period, while the elasticity which the revenue has exhibited during the very trying period through which the Province has just passed warrants the conclusion that the capabilities of the tract under report are of no mean order.

23. For the purpose of distributing the new or Survey assessment over the rice land, I propose to group the villages under report as shewn below :—

Class or Group.	No of Villages.	Maximum Rice Rate.			Distinguishing Characteristics.
1	2	3			4
I.	100	8	8	0	Villages in the central portion of the taluk possessing superior advantages as regards roads and markets and a good climate.
II.	81	7	4	0	Villages slightly more distant than the above from roads and markets but still comparatively near the centre of the taluk and main roads.
III.	79	6	0	0	Villages to the north and north east more removed from the centre of trade and in the case of the north east villages with a somewhat inferior climate; also a few villages to the west where the Malnad commences.
IV.	13	5	4	0	Villages still further towards the Malnad more scattered and not so well populated.
V.	79	4	8	0	Villages in the true Malnad scattered and comparatively sparsely populated, but fairly well placed with reference to roads but having only one small market within easy reach, climate very certain.
Total...	352

24. For the purpose of assessing the dry crop lands, I have been obliged to adopt a somewhat different grouping. There would have been no reason to make any distinction between the grouping in this case and in the case of the rice lands, were it not that the rain-fall is so heavy to the west as to render the little dry crop cultivation there is there comparatively unremunerative. The line where dry cultivation commences to be of importance is most marked and may be said to be identical with the natural division between the plain and the Malnad. The grouping after all is not very different in the two cases and where difference exists it is due entirely to considerations of climate which need not be so much admitted into calculation in the assessment of rice lands.

25. Throughout this report the grouping of villages as arranged for the assessment of the rice lands will be adhered to.

26. In the case of garden lands, I consider that a 16 rupees maximum throughout will prove suitable. As regards the few gardens totally dependent on wells a maximum of Rs. 6 will not be exceeded.

27. All the above rates fit in with those already sanctioned for neighbouring taluks settled or in progress of settlement.

28. The result of the above proposals will be to give the following assessment on the occupied lands under each head.

29. The general effect of the proposed assessment will in a measure be understood from a comparison of the old and new average rates in each class as below, on the occupied land.

A very serious increase, it will be observed, occurs as a result of my proposals, in the assessment of the rice lands of group III the average rate per acre of which is raised from Rs. 2-9-3 old to Rs. 3-15-10 new, a difference of no less than Rs. 1-6-7 although for the whole taluk the corresponding difference is only Rs. 0-13-2. In para 15, I pointed out that the old assessment on the lands below the Ayenkeri generally, was very corrupt and inadequate and it is to this cause, notwithstanding the extreme moderation of the proposed rates, that the exceptionally unequal increase in the villages of the 3rd group is due. The above is an extreme case and comprises a very large share of the whole increase involved in my proposals. Of the remaining groups I will merely remark that although the old assessment is not so corrupt as in the case just cited there are nevertheless a great many individual cases of unequal increase and decrease which I shall illustrate more fully before concluding this report. The garden assessment shews an increase in the average rate for the whole taluk of Rs. 1—0—10 only. This increase is chiefly on the garden in the plain portion of the taluk where many gardens were not brought to account at all in the old accounts. In the villages of the 5th group, the Malnad portion of the taluk, the old assessment of the gardens was very high in some cases and in others extremely low, but on the whole an average rate of Rs. 10—2—6, considering that the gardens are inferior to those further west, was considered by me to be heavy and I have imposed an assessment calculated greatly to relieve individual cases of hardship and yet to represent a very small reduction on the old assessment, the average rate of assessment under the proposed rates being Rs. 9—8—0 per acre. The average rate per acre for dry crop land is raised from Rs. 0—12—2 to Rs. 0—15—9, a difference of only 3 annas 7 pies per acre, the chief increase being in the villages of the 2nd group.

30. The unoccupied arable land and its assessment under the proposed rates is shewn in the following statement :—

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue),—dated 7th May 1880.

31. The following statement exhibits the area and assessment of the inam lands according to the old accounts as pointed out by the village officers at the time of measurement and classification :--

32. The next statement shews the result of the proposed rates on all the arable land of the villages under report, occupied, waste and inam, and at the same time contrasts the old collections with the proposed assessment :—

33. The grazing in this taluk considering its great extent has been insignificant as a source of revenue, only Rs. 1,060 having been realized in 1878-79. I cannot estimate it with any certainty to produce very much more under the new settlement although it may fairly be expected to improve under more careful management. I shall therefore keep the figures in my estimate at the same amount as in 1878-79.

Local Cess.

34. The half-anna local cess in 1878-79 brought in Rs. 5,112. Under the proposed assessment the amount realizable under the one anna local cess will be Rs. 11,721 on the occupied lands and Rs. 1,283 on the minor inam lands, in all Rs. 13,004.

Mixed Government and Inam Lands.

35. I am unable to make any estimate of any gain to Government from the allocation of Malnad inams in this taluk, there being some doubt in my mind whether in Form II received from the Superintendent of Inam Settlements, the Malnad maganis have been intentionally or erroneously omitted. I have referred to the Superintendent of Inam Settlements for the necessary information, but in the meantime must refrain from making any estimate. The amount at most will be very inconsiderable.

36. I now proceed to contrast the estimated results of the proposed settlement with the collections of 1878-79 under all heads, excluding grazing :—

One-anna Local Cess	13,004
Total under Survey system ..	2,00,537

Excluding all calculations of separately levied cesses there is an immediate increase of Rs. 35,662 or over 23 per cent on the collections of 1878—79.

37. The increase to the State revenue above shewn is no doubt at first sight very great. I will endeavour to explain, first, what are the facts and circumstances which justify so large an increase and, secondly, what reduction my estimate is likely to undergo, at the time of settlement, from resignations and various causes, as a natural result of the new system to be introduced. With reference to the first part of my proposed explanation I cannot see in prices, either present or prospective, any grounds for any great increase. Had we been now revising an equal and fairly distributed assessment I certainly should not think of proposing any increase over the collections during the last few years of good prices. We must therefore look elsewhere for some justification of the proposed increase and this is to be found in more than one set of circumstances. In the first place the maximum rates proposed for the taluk under report are by no means high compared with those sanctioned already for adjoining taluks settled, or under settlement : indeed in the case of the villages of the 3rd group, where the greatest increase occurs, the maximum rates are slightly lower than in the adjoining villages of the Banavar Taluk on the plea of unhealthiness urged and admitted for the tract in question. In all the groups the maximum rates are so moderate as to leave no doubt whatever that the increase now proposed is in no way due to any enhancement of the old rates which are far higher than any now proposed, as will be apparent on reference to the statements attached to the Deputy Commissioner's letter No. 925 of the 20th September last.

	Maximum Rice Rate.	Maximum Dry Crop Rate.
Banavar ...	6—8	1—12
3rd Group, Chikmagalur ...	6—0	1—12

38. Unfortunately no light is thrown upon the incidence of the past assessment by the record of the extent of land under cultivation which is unreliable, nor yet by the old rates which are purely nominal. We are consequently obliged to estimate its relative pressure by applying the aggregate and detailed results of the new measurement and classification to past collections. I have already done this in para 29 and have shewn that, even in the five groups into which I have divided the taluk, great inequality pervaded the old assessment, but I now propose to apply the same test somewhat more minutely and for this purpose I have taken out the necessary details for 13 villages in which the effect of the new settlement is to increase and decrease in a marked degree.

The first 6 villages in the above statement have had their assessment greatly reduced, and the next 6 villages have had their assessment greatly increased. No. 13 is a village the exceptional circumstances of which will be explained further on. If column 8, which shews the old average rice rate, be studied, it will be seen that the actual average rate hitherto paid upon the land found in occupancy by the survey ranges from Rs. 0—7—10 to Rs. 11—2—1, the corresponding survey average rates in column 11 ranging from Rs. 4—0—0 to Rs. 5—8—5. The old dry crop average rate in column 7 ranges from Rs. 0—1—6 to Rs. 3—5—8, the corresponding survey rates in column 10 ranging from Rs. 0—8—0 to Rs. 1—1—8. If the eye be run down column 7 and 8 some idea will be obtained of the inequality of the old assessment. It must not be supposed that the above are isolated instances there being a great many more which might be cited. No doubt the general effect of the settlement now proposed is to increase the assessment and there are far more instances of increase than of decrease, but even in the case of villages greatly increased a comparison of the assessment of individual holdings which is not possible until the settlement papers are completed would I feel certain reveal many instances of decrease. In the villages above shewn there is not the slightest justifiable reason for the great difference in the old assessment.

39. The village of Sakrepatna is the 13th in the statement at para 38, and is cited as a very exceptional case of marked increase. Its rice lands are irrigated from the Avankere and are alluded to by Mr. Butcher in para 17 of his report. The soil of the rice lands of this village are of a very high order and the supply of water is perennial and yet the average rate is only Rs. 1—11—9 and in many individual holdings the rate paid is far less. The survey average rate for rice land is Rs. 4—8—10 per acre, the maximum rate being Rs. 6. In the dry crop and garden assessment the increase is not very marked.

40. Village No. 3 in the above list is entirely a dry crop village and its assessment has been reduced from Rs. 359 to Rs. 115 by the operation of the survey. I applied to the Amildar for information as to the circumstances which could have led to so high an assessment under the old system and his reply was, as I fully expected, that no one could tell. The truth is that the grounds for any great difference between the survey and the old assessment are not of such a character as those possessing the information would care to communicate, especially in the case of striking increases, I am induced to make these remarks as in the case of the Honnavalli Taluk, the settlement of which was reviewed by the Chief Commissioner in his Proceedings No. 6187-98—R. 1089 of the 19th February 1880, the omission of any explanation regarding striking increases and decreases is remarked upon. In the case of the village now in question Surgondanhalli No. 3, as above, it belongs to the Kalsapur Magani, which contains a comparatively low order of dry crop soils, the old assessment of which is in many cases very high, but in which the cultivation of tobacco has had considerable success for many years past. I suggested for the Amildar's enquiry the probable fact of this exceptionally valuable crop having been taken into consideration by the framers of the old assessment, with a view to exact more revenue, but he stated that none of the people knew anything about the matter but that they considered themselves very highly taxed and they hoped the Survey settlement would afford them some relief.

41. In the absence of any accurate record of area, and of rates having any purport, under the old system, it is almost impossible to account for the old assessment of any village or tract standing at a certain figure. It is only when we come to apply the test of the results of measurement and classification that we find that the area under cultivation is far greater than it was supposed to be or than it was shewn in the old accounts. This is the ordinary discovery. The reasons for inadequate assessment under the former system are not easy to arrive at. All we know is that there has been a sacrifice of Government revenue and that the old assessment generally has been unequal in its incidence, a term which conveys a great deal of significance, implying as it does almost every kind of malversation that the ingenuity of those interested could devise out of a lax system of revenue management.

42. In order to shew whether, in the case of the villages the details of which are given in para 38, there has been any undue tampering with the assessment, I have arranged them below in a form calculated to shew what the collections have been during the 3 last decades and in the year 1878 – 79.

From the above statement the annual settlements in the first 12 villages appear to have been fairly consistent. It is true the collections are not in strict accord with the increased bijvari and here and there, in odd years, remissions appear to have been given without any apparent cause. These facts lay the annual settlements open to suspicion, but on the whole there is not a worse state of things in these villages than will be found throughout the taluk generally. Nos. 1, 4, 6 and 9 are most free from suspicion. In village No. 12 a large extent of land has evidently been resigned since the time of classification, hence the apparent but not real increase of assessment by the survey. Unfortunately the bijvari varies so much in different parts that it is impossible to ascertain the equivalent in acres for the purpose of comparison.

43. Sakrepatna, village No. 13 in the statement, calls for special and separate notice. It will be seen that the bijvari or extent under cultivation has increased year by year, without any proportionate increase in the realizations. In 1858—59 khandis 258 paid Rs. 5,230, while in 1878-79 khandis 376, khandis 118 more than in 1858-59, paid Rs. 5,564. This is a very serious difference, for each wet khandi is now found by the survey to be about 6 acres, thus some 600 odd acres of wet land may fairly be considered to have been lost sight of as a source of revenue. Moreover in 1858—59 there was no dry land shewn at all as cultivated, while in 1878—79 there are 17 khandis, found by the survey to be 389 acres. I cannot ascertain what the extent of the khandi is supposed to be in this village. The Deputy Commissioner I observe estimates the khandis according to the Krishnaraj measurement. Actually we find that a khandi of each description in this village has its equivalent in survey area as follows :—

	Total occupied khandis.	Total occupied acres by Survey.	Acres per khandi.
Dry crop	.. 17 ..	.. 389 ..	23
Rice	.. 313 ..	.. 2,027 ..	6
Garden	.. 46 ..	.. 272 ..	6

It is only natural to suppose that the old area has been very much understated in the accounts, the more so that we find that the average rate is only Rs. 1-11-9 for the rice lands of the village which are of a very superior description. The batayi system was in force in about two fifths of the wet lands till 1860—61, but in that and the following years the system seems to have been abandoned however, in the same year, an item crept in, in the shape of remissions, to the amount of Rs. 671 which figured every year up to 1872—73, when it became Rs. 696 and culminated in 1873—74 at Rs. 699, when it began to decrease and was only Rs. 149 in 1878—79. The increase by the survey in this village is very great, the old assessment being almost exactly doubled, but a reference to the statement at para 38 will shew that the average survey rates in the rice lands, where the chief increase occurs, is only Rs. 4—8—10 and as the supply of water is perennial and the soil of a very high order the increase need be viewed with no apprehension whatever.

44. I have, thus far, endeavoured to prove the inequality of the old assessment, and what in my opinion is of far more importance, the extreme moderation of the rates now proposed. If we are certain that these rates are moderate, no increase of assessment need be viewed with the slightest alarm. I will now shew as promised in para 37 that the estimated increase of Rs. 35,662, independent of local cesses, is liable to undergo some diminution at the time of settlement.

45. The exceptional circumstances of the present season, combined with the introduction of a new system of assessment which the people believe to be more strict and less fertile in remissions than the past system, will I believe lead to the relinquishment of a good deal of land. Wherever the effect of the recent famine has been to diminish the population by deaths, or to drive the ryots from their homes or to cause distress to those who remained in their villages, a certain quantity of land will be found, upon which arrears of revenue have accumulated but which has never been entered as waste but has been retained in the jamabandi of the year.

46. The owners of, or heirs to these lands, upon which arrears are thus due, will appear at the settlement and will get rid of every acre of land they possibly can, waiting for more prosperous times to take it up again. No one else will take up the land thus resigned. In many cases, the ryot being dead and there being no heirs, the land although shewn as occupied has been practically waste for two or three years and must, with its attendent arrears of assessment, be written off as waste at the settlement. How far the famine has affected the taluk under report I have, as already explained, some doubt, but I fear that the above remarks will apply to a good many of the villages in the north-eastern and dry crop portion of the taluk. Some allowance must also be made for lands which would, under any circumstances, whether there had been a famine or not, have been resigned at the settlement. There are cases where the ryots shewed lands in excess of what their pattas covered. Some of these lands will be resigned and some may have to be measured off separately where the survey numbers are too large. Some rice lands too where the occupants have been paying merely nominal rates may be resigned when the ryots find an appreciable assessment has been fixed. All things considered we must be prepared, even in a Taluk like Chikmagalur, for a good deal of land being thrown up. These resignations will not take place because the new rates are high or low but as a pure matter of economy. A ryot with arrears of revenue hanging over him and after passing through a period of trial and hardship cares little whether the rate on the land is 4 annas or so more or less, what he wants to do is to reduce his liabilities as much as possible and the survey settlement affords him the very best opportunity for so doing. The lands which will be resigned will as a rule be found to be the poorest and most unprofitable dry crop which no one can be found to take up, much less pay any price for. The better lands have been sold by the owners during the famine and on the sale proceeds they have managed to exist. In the Honnavalli Taluk of the Túmkúr District in which the settlement is being introduced, as I write the number of fields that have changed hands during the famine is very remarkable. Gardens and the best dry crop lands have been parted with at suicidal prices, but the aggregate effect the sales have had in supporting the population of the taluk during the famine has been very great. In Chikmagalur I have no doubt we shall find very much the same state of things in some parts, but on a smaller scale than in Honnavalli.

Irrigation cess.

47. The irrigation cess merged in the assessment, decided upon by the Deputy Commissioner and myself, amounts to Rs. 6,614.

Remuneration of village officers.

48. The amount required to place the pay of village officers on a proper footing may be estimated at about Rs. 10,000.

49. The net increase therefore, after deducting the irrigation cess merged and the sum required for the remuneration of village officers, will be Rs. 19,048. After making allowance for the resignations of land which I anticipate, I shall not be astonished if the net gain to Government for the first year or two of the settlement does not amount to more than Rs. 10,000.

50. The usual Statement A shewing statistics with past and proposed assessment in each village is appended.

51. Statement B shewing all the inam villages in the taluk and the nature of the survey applied is also appended.

52. I shall feel obliged by as early sanction as possible to the settlement now proposed as the papers are being rapidly prepared, and I hope to be able to give out the rates shortly after the middle of April next.

From the Deputy Commissioner, Kadur District, To the Superintendent of the Mysore Revenue Survey, No 925, dated Chikmagalur, 20th September 1879.

In continuation of my letter No. 789 of the 23rd ultimo, I have the honor to submit the following report on the present land assessment of the Chikmagalur Taluk.

2. For the purposes of agriculture and revenue the Taluk of Chikmagalur as it now stands may be divided into three distinct sub-divisions, viz., (1) the Western Malnad (2) Central and (3) Eastern Maidan. The first comprising the Maganis of (1) Vastara, (2) Anur, (3) Kadgalnad, (4) Khandya, (5) Taldarnad and (6) Advalli, 2ndly of (7) Chikmagalur, (8) Mattavar (9) Basvanhalli, (10) Hiremagalur, (11) Marale, (12) Mallalur, (13) Narnapur and (14) Bendaga, and 3rdly of (15) Kargatta, (16) Sakrepatna, (17) Hulikere, (18) Kenkere, (19) Lakya, (20) Kalsapur, (21) Rajansiriyur and (22) Sindigere.

3. The first division which was transferred from the former Vastara Taluk in 1875 is purely Malnad, and is almost wholly irrigated by rain water, with but few tanks scattered here and there.

4. The Magani of Bendaga although situated in the north of the central (2nd) division along with the Hoskote Firka of the Kenkere Magani in the eastern (3rd) division, may be classed with the west in their characteristics, forming the eastern slopes of the Bababudan range. A road passes through the western division, and it is anticipated that communication will be much improved in this part in a few years hence.

5. The second division occupies the centre of the taluk and is well irrigated with channels from streams rising in the Bababudans, and tanks, some of which are of considerable size ; but many of these irrigation works require repair and improvement. The roads passing through this tract issuing out of Chikmagalur are (1) to Vastara (2) to Mailemane and Joldhal, (3) to Santaveri, (4) to Sakrepatna and (5) to Jamgal and Belur.

6. The third division is the Maidan part of the taluk of which the Magani of Sakrepatna contains the channels of the Ayankere tank, one of the largest in the District. The Magani of Kargatta, though situated in the east, resembles the Malo Magani of the central (2nd) division in its characteristics of land irrigation.

7. Three statements marked A, B and C are herewith forwarded to shew the extent of kandayam of assessed wet, dry and garden lands, detailed into cultivated and uncultivated.

8. It is said however that the figures therein given do not represent the exact extent and rates, except the gardens in Sakrepatna, Rajansuriyur and Kalsapur, (noted further on vide para 19) in so far that the actual measurement of khandis are not stated in some maganis, whilst in the eastern maganis transferred from Ashtagram, large extents of unarable waste lands including hills, streams, &c., are tacked on to the bijvari in the Pahani accounts without its equivalent amount under beriz.

9. The old bijvari or extent of land in khandis varies in several maganis, and in order to simplify calculation the sthala or local khandis are converted into the standard Krishnaraj khandis measuring 160 seers; and these are converted into acres at 10,000 square yards or 2 acres, 2 guntas and 78 square yards per khandi of wet and garden land, and 64,000 square yards or acres 13—8—112 of dry land. Similarly the rates are given in the statements for the acre reduced from the sthala khandi as above indicated.

10. The east or Maidan division (except the Magani of Karagada) was transferred from the late Ashtagram Division and consequently bears rates imposed on the principle of that Division; so also is the Magani of Bendaga (of the central division) as it was attached to the old Sakrepatna Taluk of the Ashtagram Division formerly. The rest of the taluk under the rates of the old Nagar Raja and therefore Sivappanayakana Shistu is in vogue there.

11. The particulars of the statements now submitted for the taluk may be compressed in the following abstract:—

No.	Items.	Total.						Cultivated.						Uncultivated.
		Extent.			Assessment.			Extent.			Assessment.			Extent.			Assessment.
		A.	G.	Y.	Rs.	A.	P.	A.	G.	Y.	Rs.	A.	P.	A.	G	Y.	Rs.	A.	P.
1	Wet ...	42,944	33	26	1,37,521	10	6	30,577	14	33	1,05,545	10	9	12,367	21	114	31,975	15	9
2	Dry ...	47,715	2	76	4,998	10	1	29,753	32	43	36,363	10	2	17,931	10	33	13,624	15	11
3	Garden ...	13,722	1	95	15,866	8	5	2,761	20	36	9,765	9	3	960	21	59	6,100	15	2

12. From the above figures a vast incongruity may be observed in the proportionate rates averaged, of the cultivated and uncultivated extents, and this in some instances may be attributed to lands highly assessed not being taken up for cultivation. But the incongruity is due in a great measure to the beriz baki of the Vat Warg system in the Advalli Magani and for other causes elsewhere, including patti of the lands under cultivation set apart as Tavakuf being ordered to be retained as beriz is added to the beriz of the cultivated extent of the accounts.

Wet.

13. Statement A exhibits the details of wet land in the several maganis of the taluk. The central division bears the largest proportion of this denomination of land and the rates there are somewhat high owing chiefly to copious irrigation, facility of communication, and proximity to Chikmagalur the Head-quarters of the District and the centre of coffee trade. Next comes the west or Malnad division where the rates are comparatively low on account of the secluded and wild state of the tract, and want of irrigation works and of labor; and more so in the Maganis of Khandya and Advalli where they are shewn to be lowest. Lastly comes the eastern division which contains the smallest extent of wet land owing to scanty water supply.

14. The maximum rates in Lakya and Rajansiriyur appear rather high, but they are of trifling extent, and were specially put down in by-gone years owing to their situation under an anicut and tanks which are now out of order, though the same rates are continued on.

Dry.

15. The case of dry cultivation is quite the reverse inasmuch as it is most in the eastern Maidan division, and least in the west or the Malnad, the central of course maintaining a medium between the two.

16. The highest rate is put down in Hulikere and next in Lakya, and so on in proportion it is supposed to the superior quality of the soil for dry crops.

17. Besides the extents given in the statement, there is a large extent of dry lands under the denomination of Thathina Hankalu attached to the wet lands of wargs in the Maidan, not separately taxed nor accounted for in the accounts.

Garden.

18. Supari gardens abound in the western division principally in the Advalli Magani where cardamom and pepper are also grown. But it may be observed that many gardens are gradually deteriorating for want of means and labor.

19. The Maganis of Sakrepatna, Rajansiriyur and Kalsapur of the eastern division contain gardens of supari, cocoanut and betel leaves. The extents of these were regularly measured out in 1864 on the complaint of ryots, and the rates then imposed averaged from Rs. 8—2—0 to 13—4—0 the acre.

20. In the central division there is not much gardening at present. In the Magani of Narnapur however a sum of Rs. 1,293—12—0 is shewn as the revenue under this head; but it may be remarked that most of these gardens have nearly disappeared owing to the ryots being reduced in circumstances and having given up garden cultivation and taken to wet and dry cultivation which requires proportionately smaller capital and yields a ready out-turn. The village of Magadi of this magani may be taken as a glaring instance. Under its big tank the former garden lands are now actually under wet cultivation though they continue to pay garden rates and the lands are treated as such in the accounts.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue),—dated 7th May 1880.

From the Deputy Commissioner, Kadur District, To the Superintendent of the Mysore Revenue Survey, No. 3, dated Chikmagalur, 7th April 1880.

I have the honor to return the papers received with your letter No. 216 of the 22nd March 1880, regarding the revision of the land assessment of the Chikmagalur Taluk, which is to take place in connection with the Revenue Survey.

2. I have studied the papers by the light of your letter No. 236, dated the 30th ultimo, and of its enclosure, which shew that the opinion which you have called for from me on the subject is to be confined only to general results.

3. I think the maximum rates proposed by you are not unfair. On the contrary they appear quite moderate both when judged by the capabilities of the soil and by such of the present rates, as from enquiry have been found proper for the several localities referred to. The increase of revenue, which will be caused by the proposed rates must therefore be attributable only to the correct bringing into book of the actual extent under cultivation and other legitimate causes.

4. I notice that, in the grouping of the several parts of the taluk, you have arranged a few of the villages of the Sakrepatna, Bendaga, Anur, Vastara, Malalur, Chikmagalur and Basavanhalli Maganis differently from the other villages now comprised in them. I think this separation of the villages is founded on substantial differences in their general character.

5. But if my information, collected from a number of persons presumably well acquainted with the general features of the question and well above the suspicion of a motive to practise deception, is correct, it seems to me that a slight modification of your arrangement in some other respects will better equalize the assessment.

6. The parts put by you in the first group include Kalsapur, Sindgere, Belvadi and Rajansiriyur Maganis, but it is universally believed that these four maganis are not so favorably situated as to wet crop as the other eight maganis in the group and may well take rank in this respect with Anur and Vastara Maganis. In the same manner it is considered that these latter maganis are sensibly superior to Lakya and Hulikere in regard to this description of crop. On the other hand the general impression is that Sakrepatna may for wet crop take rank at least with Vastara and Anur.

7. If in the absence of details as to how the distinction said to have been observed between the dry and wet crop lands in regard to grouping has actually affected the arrangement, it is not out of the way to state here what the expectation is in this respect. I may add not only that Lakya and Hulikere are considered superior as to dry crops to Vastara and Anur, but also that the villages of the Sakrepatna Magani which you have classed with Bendaga and Kenkere may well go with Lakya and Hulikere.

8. The result of the above modifications which are all I find it necessary to mention is as follows :—

Names of Maganis.	Groupings now suggested.		Group as fixed by the Survey Department.
	Wet.	Dry.	Wet.	Dry.
Sindigere, Kalsapur, Belvadi and Rajansiriyur ...	2	1	1	1
The parts included under the 1st Class by the Survey Department except Kalsapur, Sindigere, Belvadi and Rajansiriyur. ...	1	1	1	1
Lakya, Hulikere and Pillenhalli in Sakrepatna. ...	3	2	2	2
Portions of Anur, Vastara and Bendaga put by the Survey Department in the 2nd Class. ...	2	3	2	2
Part of Sakrepatna put by the Survey Department in the 3rd Class. ...	2	2	3	3
Kenkere and parts of Bendaga, Anur and Vastara which the Survey Department have put in the 3rd Class. ...	3	3	3	3
Taldarnad and parts of Kadagalnad and of Khandya. ...	4	4	4	4
Part of Khandya and Advalli.	5	5	5	5

9. A consequence of the modification proposed for Sakrepatna Magani will be a far greater increase in the assessment as compared with what is now collected from this magani, than would result from your arrangement. But while perfectly agreeing with you that the present assessment on the lands below Ayankere generally is very inadequate, I fail to see any just claim to half measures for these lands, in the corrupt success with which they have hitherto evaded their just proportion of the assessment. Nor do I consider that there is any real ground for an exceptional treatment on their behalf from the plea of unhealthiness urged to a greater or less extent. The town of Sakrepatna itself may, perhaps, not be so agreeable in point of health to a new comer as is to be wished, but to the residents themselves, I do not actually see any tangible proof of its being unhealthy. Much less do I see any reasonable ground for such complaint in regard to the other villages of the magani itself generally.

10. As regards the garden lands, the maximum rate of Rs. 6 proposed for the gardens totally dependent on wells seems to me very reasonable, and I also fully agree that the present rate for the Malnad portion of the taluk is heavy and ought to be reduced. But why the maximum rate for the garden lands throughout, in all the different groups, should be uniformly Rs. 16, I do not conceive. The belief is that the garden assessment should bear a certain ratio to the wet assessment, as the latter assessment itself should in its turn do as compared with the assessment on dry land. The generally acknowledged proportion in either case appears to be three times. Thus it is said that in parts where the dry rate is 1 rupee, the wet rate properly should not be more than Rs 3, and the garden assessment again should not be more than Rs. 9. Reasons for the calculation of these proportions are also given in more or less detail. Owing to this cause, there is apparently the probability of the uniform rate of Rs. 16 being received with an amount of disappointment and objection.

11. A matter to which in revising the land assessment some attention seems legitimately due is the maximum rate now considered fair in the several parts concerned. The general assumption, as is well known, is that the assessment bears a due proportion to the produce, so that if correct statistics are available as to the produce it does not matter whether in making the calculation the maximum or the minimum rate is adopted as the standard for regulating the different rates according to the different classification values of the particular lands. But such statistics are found generally either unavailable or designedly incorrect. At any rate such is more or less found to be the case, when an attempt is made to ascertain the produce of the best land or other lands which are not of an inferior description. Only in the case of the lowest kind of lands a tolerably correct agreement is met with in the answers obtained to enquiries on the subject. So in regard to the rates of money assessment which of course represent the money value of the Government share of the produce, there is an equally marked agreement only when the rates are of the lowest description of lands in the locality to which the enquiries refer. My idea therefore is that in judging of the suitability or otherwise of the rates proposed it would be well to compare the minimum rates so ascertained from careful local enquiries to be fair according to the general opinion of the people, with the proposed rates, and with reference to the classification results as to the different capabilities of the land. The advantages of this method are not only that the interests of the revenue would be secured against possible, but unnecessary loss, from the classification values in any locality carrying down the maximum rates below what in it is usually considered a very fair rate for even the lowest description of land, but also that the rates proposed might be made better intelligible to the people from the circumstance that they could feel the rates to be based upon data furnished, as it were, more or less directly by them from their own lips. Further such an upward course from the minimum towards the maximum rates, if it actually is found to lead to a maximum perceptibly abnormal, might from this fact alone suggest the general unsuitability of the classification values adopted and conduce to a further careful scrutiny and revision of these values if not also to the detection of possible errors. In short, if I am not misinformed, the old practice of the country followed on such occasions seems to be in favor of the procedure above mentioned. And I do not see any thing inherent in it which should make it now objectionable. With a view therefore to make a comparison such as is alluded to above, I was anxious to find out what the classification results would actually leave of the proposed maximum rates as the minimum rates for the several parts of the taluk about which my opinion has been called for, but as I find from your letter No. 236, dated 30th March 1880, that in this matter I have been guilty only of needless curiosity, I must content myself with only expressing my regret at the mistake I have made.

12. I do not think there are any other matters which I should notice. But there is a matter in which I see there is some mistake and upon which therefore I should say a word or two before I conclude. Your present information seems to be that lands belonging to deceased heirless and deserted ryots, though unoccupied and waste for 2 or 3 years, are still shewn against them as occupied in the accounts, with their attendant arrears of assessment and that all these lands will have to be written off at the settlement, I do not think that this information is correct. As a rule all such lands have been written off from time to time together with the arrears due on them. During the settlement therefore the resignations must be due chiefly to other ordinary causes. But I own to some doubt whether much land will be thrown up in this taluk. Perhaps the Brahman ryots about Sakrepatna and some others at their instigation may be somewhat clamorous, but in the end I do not think they will actually resign much land.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue)—dated 7th May 1880.

From the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey, To the Survey and Settlement Commissioner, Mysore, No. 250, dated Lakvalli, 3rd April 1880.

I have the honor to forward the marginally noted correspondence on the proposed revision of the assessment of the Chikmagalur Taluk of the Kadur District.

1. Survey Superintendent's Report No. 215 of the 22nd March 1880 and accompaniments.
2. Survey Superintendent's letter No. 216 of the 22nd idem.
3. Kadur District Deputy Commissioner's letter No. 738 of the 25th idem.
4. Survey Superintendent's letter No. 236 of the 30th idem.
5. Kadur District Deputy Commissioner's letter No. 3 of the 1st April 1880.

2. The Deputy Commissioner in his letter No. 3 of the 1st instant gives a very decided opinion regarding the moderation of the proposed rates.

3. In paras 5 to 9 inclusive, some slight modification of the grouping of villages as arranged by me is advocated. I have very carefully considered the proposals made by the Deputy Commissioner and on re-examining my calculations I think his suggestion to put the Sakrepatna Magani into a higher group might be adopted. The remarks made on this particular suggestion in para 9 are very sound, and as the Deputy Commissioner after taking opinions which he evidently considers deserving of much weight does not attach much importance to the notoricty which attaches the tract of country round Sakrepatna as a place of much unhealthiness. I am quite prepared to support his proposal. I have consequently transferred the Sakrepatna Magani and 11 villages of the Kenkeri Magani, in all 15 villages from the 3rd to the 2nd group.

4. As regards the other changes in the grouping of villages advocated and shewn at para 8, I think that the intrinsic capabilities of the soil, or soil and water combined have been to some extent confounded with influences of an external character, such as climate and position with reference to roads, markets and similar considerations. For instance there can be no doubt that the Deputy Commissioner's informants, alluded to in para 5 of his letter, in stating that the Maganis of Kalsapur, Sindigere, Rajansiriyur and Belvadi were less favorably situated as to wet crop (sic) than the other eight maganis comprised in group I, meant that the wet lands in the former were of an inferior description as compared with the latter and not that there was anything in the climate or in the position of the villages with reference to roads and markets which made wet cultivation less remunerative. The classification has already dealt with the relative values of all these wet lands, and I do not think any separate grouping is necessary for these four maganis as compared with the other eight maganis of group I. On the same grounds I would not advocate any change in the grouping of certain villages of the Anur, Vastara and Bendiga Maganis for which the Deputy Commissioner recommends a lower dry crop maximum. The dry land in these villages is very small in extent, and is little raised by the settlement, moreover they occupy a very favorable position with reference to roads and markets.

5. The transfer of 15 villages from the 3rd to the 2nd group as advocated by the Deputy Commissioner will give an increase of Rs. 2,500 over the amount originally estimated, that is to say the immediate increase of Rs. 35, 662 shewn in para 36 of the settlement report becomes Rs. 38,162. I have had two sets of papers prepared for these villages and shall be ready to add or remit this estimated sum of Rs. 2,500 from the settlement as Government may direct. Of the estimated increase Rs. 2,000 will fall upon the village of Sakrepatna alone, at the same time there can be no doubt that the rates are moderate enough.

6. In para 10 the Deputy Commissioner notices that an uniform maximum rate of Rs. 16 for garden lands throughout appears inconsistent. Perhaps if it had been stated that Rs. 16 would in no case be exceeded, the reason would be more plain, the truth being that each garden is assessed on its individual merits by the assessing officer. Gardens have been assessed as low as Rs. 2 per acre and as high as Rs. 14 which is about the highest rate imposed, but in no case has Rs. 16 been exceeded. I have no fear whatever of the garden rates being met with any reasonable objection.

7. I will not follow the Deputy Commissioner in the reasoning which he elaborates in para 11 as it can serve no useful purpose to do so. The classification has been very carefully watched from first to last, and the divisions of the classification scales carefully adjusted lest revenue should be needlessly sacrificed. This after all is I think what the Deputy Commissioner has been guarded against.

8. Regarding the concluding para of the Deputy Commissioner's letter, I will only observe that in the Honnavalli Taluk the lands of deceased and heirless ryots I found to be still shewn against them although unoccupied and waste for several years. On this experience I ventured to surmise that the same state of things might perhaps be found to exist in Chikmagalur. I am glad to find that such lands have been written off in the taluk now in question as the consequence will be a smaller resignation of holdings than I anticipated.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore in the Revenue Department, (Revenue),—dated 7th May 1880.

No. 657-67—Rev. 122, dated 7th May 1880.

Order thereon.—The foregoing papers contain proposals for the revision of the existing assessment in the Chikmagalur Taluk of the Kadur District.

2. The taluk which is of an irregular shape owing to the territorial changes which have been effected from time to time, covers an area of 605 square miles and is divided into 23 maganis. The total number of villages is reported to be 381, of which 352, including 3 coffee estates which are separately demarcated, are Government and 29 Inam besides 9 kavals. The proposed revision relates only to the 352 Government villages which contain an area of 528 square miles.

3. The taluk from its physical characteristics is divided into three distinct portions which vary in point of climate and soil. The western portion comprising the pure Malnad is situated to the south of the Bababudan hills. The rain-fall is heavy. The principal products are rice and betel-nut besides pepper and cardamom to a small extent. The central portion consists of eight maganis watered by the perennial streams emerging from the Bababudans, which are dammed up for irrigation purposes and which considerably conduce to the fertility of the soil which is good black or dark-brown yielding all the valuable crops, viz., Bengal-gram, wheat, coriander, &c. The eastern portion is jungly, and consists of undulating plains, comprising essentially dry crop maganis, with comparatively little wet and garden cultivation. The gardens are in a deteriorated condition except in Sakrepatna and Kalasapur Maganis.

4. The staple products are ragi for dry crop land, rice and betel-nut for the wet and garden lands respectively. Coffee gardens are numerous and are confined to the Malnad and the eastern slopes of the Bababudans. Their extent as ascertained in the measurement is 40,681 acres. The gardens are principally held by natives and are in a neglected condition.

5. Tanks are also numerous in the central portion of the taluk, and in the north-east, there are the Ayankere and Madag, two first class tanks which catch the drainage from the eastern slopes of the Bababudans. Irrigation by wells exists to a limited extent.

6. The taluk is well supplied with communications which radiate from Chikmagalur in different directions. The great central market and coffee mart is Chikmagalur, a rising town of considerable importance. There are other markets in the interior of the taluk.

7. The people of the taluk are said to be in easy circumstances. The advantages of roads and facilities of irrigation, added to which is the extensive cultivation of coffee, contribute in a great measure to their prosperity.

8. The incidence of the old assessment is stated to be very unequal bearing no relation to the capabilities of the soil, and this has been discovered to be especially so in the case of the lands irrigated from the Ayankere tank, the rates on which are characterized as preposterously low. No regular measurement of the lands appears to have been made at any time. In 1864 the complaints of the ryots led to a measurement of the supari gardens being made in three maganis in the eastern direction, but the results then recorded as compared with those obtained by the survey shew such great variations that no reliance can be placed on the correctness of the measurement.

9. The revenue collections realized in the taluk for the past 25 years and the ruling prices of the staple productions during the period are shewn in paras 16 to 19 of Major Grant's letter. The revenue has steadily increased with little or no check from 1,08,991 in 1854—55 to 1,40,479 in 1875—76. There was a falling off in 1876—77 in consequence of the prevalence of famine; the increase in the last two years was the result of the extension of cultivation which was abandoned in previous years.

10. The difference between the eastern and western portions of the taluk in regard to climate and the nature of cultivation is so great that a separate grouping of villages for wet and dry cultivation in each is rendered necessary. For the assessment of wet crop lands, the Superintendent, Revenue Survey, proposed to divide the 352 Government villages into five groups and to fix the maximum rates as shewn below :—

Class or Group.	No. of Villages.	Maximum Rice Rate.	Distinguishing Characteristics.
I	100	8 8 0	Villages in the central portion of the taluk possessing superior advantages as regards roads and markets and a good climate.
II	81	7 4 0	Villages slightly more distant than the above from roads and markets, but still comparatively near the centre of the taluk and main roads.
III	79	6 0 0	Villages to the north and north-east more removed from the centre of trade, and in the case of the north-east villages with a somewhat inferior climate ; also a few villages to the west where the Malnad commences.
IV	13	5 4 0	Villages still further towards the Malnad more scattered and not so well populated.
V	79	4 8 0	Villages in the true Malnad scattered and comparatively sparsely populated, but fairly well placed with reference to roads, but having only one small market within easy reach, climate very certain.
Total...	339

For the assessment of dry lands, a different grouping of villages is proposed to be made as shewn in the margin. In the case of garden lands the maximum rate proposed for gardens irrigated by tanks and channels is Rs. 16 throughout and Rs. 6 for those irrigated by wells.

I	97	2	10	0
II	72	2	4	0
III	59	1	12	0
IV	47	1	8	0

11. The incidence of the proposed Survey assessment on the several descriptions of occupied land is shewn in the following statement :—

Group or Class.	No. of Villages.	Garden.				Rice.				Dry Crop.				Total.
		Survey Acres.	Survey Assessment.	Average Rate per Acre.	Average old Rate.	Survey Acres.	Survey Assessment.	Average Rate per Acre.	Average old Rate.	Survey Acres.	Survey Assessment.	Average Rate per Acre.	Average old Rate.	Area.	Assessment.	Average Rate.
I	100	733	4,184 5 11	4 4 14 0		12,339	68,237 5 8 2	4 11 10		23,329	23,691 1 0 3	0 13 5		36,451	96,112	2 10 2
III	79	302	2,318 7 10	10 6 6 5		6,441	25,691 3 15 10	2 0 3		5,394	4,005 0 11 11	0 8 1		12,137	32,014	2 10 2
IV	13	7	13 1 13	9 0 0 0		1,528	4,545 2 15 7	2 0 7		106	61 0 9 2	0 8 5		1,641	4,619	2 13 0
V	79	288	2,736 9 8	0 10 2 6		7,469	19,324 2 9 5	2 4 4		224	48 0 7 10	0 9 3		7,981	22,158	2 12 5
	352	1,386	9,434 6 13	11 5 12 1		31,461	1,33,966 4 4 2	3 7 10		44,809	44,133 0 15 9	0 12 2		77,656	1,87,533	2 6 8

12. The result of the above proposals is an increase of assessment in the different groups as shewn in the margin. There is a marked difference between the old and new assessments proposed for the 1st and 3rd groups, and as regards the latter the Survey Superintendent explains that the result is owing to the extremely inadequate and corrupt assessment on the rice lands under the Ayankere tank in the Sakrepatna Magani. There is no former record of area by which the incidence of the past assessment can be ascertained. The average rates arrived at by applying the results of the new measurement to past collections shewn in para 12 can

	Former Assessment	Assessment by Survey.	Increase.
Group I	81,443	96,112	14,669
„ II	25,982	32,630	6,648
„ III	21,267	32,014	10,747
„ IV	3,169	4,619	1,450
„ V	20,010	22,158	2,148

only approximate to the truth, for in many instances more land than what is really occupied has been pointed out and included in the measurement of occupied land.

13. The maximum rates proposed for the taluk are by no means high as compared with those sanctioned for the adjoining settled taluks of Banavar and Belur, but, on the contrary, the maximum rice rate for the 3rd group referred to by the Superintendent is lower than that in the adjoining villages of the Banavar Taluk. It is, therefore, beyond question that the inequalities of the assessment in the 1st and 3rd groups were very great and quite inconsistent with the capabilities of the soil and climatic considerations. This inequality is clearly exhibited in the statements appended to paras 38 and 42 of the Survey Superintendent's letter.

14. The Deputy Commissioner acquiesces in the moderation of the proposed rates and recommends some modifications in the grouping of the villages, which are as follows:—

(1.) Sindageri, Kalasapur, Rajansiriyur and Bilavadi Maganis in the eastern portion of the taluk should, as regards wet assessment, be placed in group No. II instead of No. I.

(2.) Similarly the transfer of Lakya and Hulikere Maganis and Pillanahalli Village of the Sakrepatna Magani from 2nd to 3rd group.

(3.) Portions of Anur, Vastara and Bendaga Maganis should, as regards dry assessment, be reduced from 2nd to 3rd group.

(4.) And Sakrepatna Magani, excepting Pillanahalli above referred to should, as regards both wet and dry lands, be raised from the 3rd to 2nd group, with a maximum rice rate of 7—4—0 and a maximum dry rate of 2—4—0. The Superintendent, Revenue Survey, is not prepared to assent to the above proposals except the last one as regards Sakrepatna Magani. He accordingly proposes to transfer the Sakrepatna Magani and 11 Villages of the Kenkere Magani from the 3rd to the 2nd group. In connection with this, the Survey Commissioner observes that the Sakrepatna Magani is entitled to consideration on account of the insalubrity of its climate, and that, if the magani were raised to the 2nd group, it would be necessary to adopt higher rates for the villages in the 2nd group and for those of the 1st, in fact to raise the standard of assessment throughout the taluk generally. He therefore recommends that the villages in question might be retained in the 3rd group, but that the maximum wet rate for those villages be raised above that of the 3rd group from Rs. 6 to Rs. 6—8—0, and that the dry crop rate be left untouched. The Chief Commissioner observes that, according to the original proposals of the Survey Superintendent, the assessment of the lands irrigated by the Ayankere tank situated in Sakrepatna Magani has already been nearly doubled, and having regard to the fact that the climate is unhealthy, he is of opinion that the proposal made by the Survey Commissioner of raising the maximum wet rate for the villages to 6—8—0 and allowing the present proposals as regards dry crop rate to remain unaffected would meet the requirements of the case. This slight enhancement of the rate is estimated to increase the revenues from wet lands by Rs. 800.

15. The remarks of the Deputy Commissioner as regards the garden rate are by no means clear and appear to be based on a misapprehension. The proposed rates of 16 Rs. for gardens irrigated by tanks and channels and 6 Rs. for those irrigated by wells appear to be fair and consistent with those already sanctioned for the adjoining settled taluks.

16. The result of the above rates on the Government lands (both occupied and unoccupied) is exhibited in the following statement:—

Description of Lands.		Extent.	Assessment.
Government	I Occupied	77,656	1,88,333
	II Unoccupied Arable Waste ..	27,381	32,566
	Total ...	1,05,037	2,20,899

17. The following comparative statement shews the gross increase in the revenue demand of the occupied area of the taluk, as compared with past collections :—

	1878—79.	Survey Assessment.	Increase.
Land Revenue	1,51,871	1,88,333	36,462
Half-anna Local Cess ..	5,112	13,004	7,892
	1,56,983	2,01,337	44,354

18. It is estimated that a sum of Rs. 10,000 will be required on account of remuneration to village officers, who will lose the grain levies from the date of the introduction of the settlement. Next for the irrigation cess, a sum of Rs. 6,614 merged in the wet land revenue requires to be deducted. Deducting the sum of Rs. 16,614 from the above estimate of Rs. 36,462, the result is a net increase of Rs. 19,848 or about 13 per cent on the revenues of last year. It is, however, apprehended that the above sum will be liable to a further decrease of Rs. 9,000 from anticipated resignation of lands, which though hitherto uncultivated, were pointed out and registered as occupied at the time of measurement. The Survey Commissioner, therefore, doubts whether the realizable revenue would exceed 1,63,000 Rs. or 11,000 more than the collections in 1878-79. The above increase is irrespective of the revenue to be hereafter derived from the imposition of acreage assessment on coffee lands.

19. The area of unoccupied lands available for future cultivation is very extensive. The dry extent is half of the occupied area of that description assessed at Rs. 16,945 and the wet area is 4,744 acres assessed at Rs. 15,199. The garden extent of 85 acres is insignificant. The prospect of these lands being brought under cultivation is very remote. The Deputy Commissioner is, however, requested to report under what circumstances the large extent of wet land has not been taken up and whether sufficient facilities for their irrigation do not exist.

20. The Deputy Commissioner should report whether, as directed in para 17 of the Chief Commissioner's Minute of 19th August 1878, measures have been taken to simplify the boundaries of the Amrut Mahal Kavals in the taluk and to clear them of private rights on the principles laid down in para 14 of the above Minute.

21. With these observations, the Chief Commissioner sanctions the introduction of the proposed settlement with the usual guarantee for 30 years.

(iv.) That in regard to the ferrying of villagers, their cattle and goods, the prevailing system of an annual customary remuneration in grain shall not be disturbed.

(v.) That Government officials on duty and all Government articles shall be ferried free of charge.

(vi.) That the Government reserves to itself the right of revising the rent or of resuming the privilege at any time.

(vii.) That the ferrymen shall be provided with a license specifying the above conditions and with a table of fees for the inspection of passengers.

(viii.) That where the ferries are important, the Deputy Commissioner may provide Government ferryboats to be kept in repair by the ferrymen, proportionately raising the rent payable to Government.

The term ferry shall not include boats kept by private individuals, not for the public, but for their own use.

4. In the Hassan District, where the ferries have hitherto been all rented out, the arrangement need not be disturbed, but conditions similar to those above mentioned should be laid down, especially in regard to providing safe and good boats, whether by the Government or by the renters, and to protecting passengers from needless detention and extortion.

5. The Chief Commissioner sees no occasion for the absolute exemption from rent, laid down in Proceedings No. 1651—R. 4, dated 3rd June 1875, of ferries plying between villages which are not situated on any line of road. Some of these appear to be as important as those on the main lines of road, yielding equally large amounts of rent. They may continue to be rented out as heretofore. But where the ferries are unimportant, the system of giving them to hereditary ferrymen on a fixed moderate or nominal rent without an annual competition may be advantageously adopted in the Hassan District also.

6. The proceeds of the ferries being made over to District Funds, the receipts and charges on account of the same will continue to be shewn under that head.

The Annual Report on the administration of Criminal Justice in Coorg for the year 1879.

No. 112—J. 6, DATED 3RD MAY 1880.

REVIEW BY THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER.—With the exception of a diminution by one in the number of Parpattegar Magisterial Courts, the tribunals in Coorg remained the same as in 1878. Their cost amounted to Rs. 46,717 being slightly less than in 1878, and the net receipts from stamps amounted to Rs. 40,269.

2. The number of offences reported was a little below that of the past year; the total number of complaints in Coorg has indeed been steadily decreasing since 1875. It is further satisfactory to learn that the diminution this year is particularly marked in grave crimes, and the only increase of appreciable extent is in such trifling cases as assault. A few more cases than before are shown, it is true, under "Offences against the State, Public Justice, &c;" but, as these consisted of prosecutions for disobedience to summonses or notices, the fact may be taken as indicating more leisure for administration of strict justice than increase in crime, for it is in cases of that class that Magistrates are generally left to move themselves.

3. Notwithstanding the decrease in number of offences complained of, the total number of 1,595 persons brought to trial shews an increase of 280. Convictions were obtained against only 49·9 per cent and almost an equal number were acquitted or discharged, which tends to shew that few as the complaints of offences are in Coorg they might be considerably diminished by the elimination of those that are false or frivolous.

4. In the duration of cases and the detention of witnesses the results are very satisfactory, for the former was but three days on an average, and no witness has been detained beyond the third day.

5. The work of the different Appellate Courts has been extremely light, and it may be inferred from the few instances in which convictions were reversed that the sentences of the Subordinate Courts were generally regarded as just.

READ—

Letter No. 59, dated 15th April 1880, from the Officiating Inspector General of Prisons submitting the Annual Report on the Jail Administration of Coorg for the year 1879.

No. 180—J. 9, DATED OOTACAMUND, 14TH MAY 1880.

REVIEW BY THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER.—The first fact that claims attention in the Jail Administration Report of Coorg for 1879 is that the total number of persons imprisoned rose from 972 to 1,090, but just as the Criminal Administration Report shewed that though the number of trials had decreased, the number of persons tried rose by 280, so these jail statistics on being further examined shew that convicts have been decreasing in number while 'under-trials' increased by 175 persons and the natural consequence has been that the average daily strength of all classes of prisoners in all jails has decreased, indeed the under-trials though more numerous in the aggregate appear to have been so promptly dealt with that their daily average was slightly below that of 1878.

2. This was a condition of things which would ordinarily have relieved crowding, to which the Mercara Jail has been more or less subject lately; but the necessity of rebuilding the wards prevented that object being attained, because the want of space necessitated the old ward being rebuilt almost exactly on the same foundations.

3. It is hoped that the alterations now being made in the Mercara Jail will materially improve it in a sanitary point of view. The vital statistics of the year are better than those of 1878 though there is still much room for improvement. In 1878 there were a daily average number of 6·81 sick and there were 29 deaths on a total daily average strength of 118·1; in 1879 there were a daily average number of 5·85 sick and 11 deaths on a daily average of 103·78. The proportion of sick was therefore almost precisely the same, but the percentage of mortality fell in a remarkable manner.

4. The cost of prisoners in Coorg is high giving an average of Rs. 113—11—2. Owing to a return of the price of provisions to nearly their normal level, the average expenditure per head on rations fell from Rs. 72 to Rs. 57, and it is owing to this alone that the total average cost is Rs. 11 less than in 1878, for under every other head the average has increased. This is a subject which should engage the particular attention of the Superintendent of the Jail.

5. On the other hand the gross income from manufactures and net profit on that account both shew very good results. The income amounted to nearly Rs. 13,500 being almost Rs. 6,000 more than in 1878. This is mainly due to the bakery, and materially also to the printing press. The net cash profit to Government from manufactures was Rs. 3,642, and the average cash profit per head of convicts sentenced to labor was Rs. 41, both of which are very commendable results of intelligent management.
